pany is not equal to the burden it has strug-gled under during the last fifteen or twenty The dealings in Sugar Refining were only a little larger than those in Reading, reducing the last to full stock. The fluctuations in it were comparatively narrow, and it closed only fractionally higher than resterday, though speculation in it was stimulated by an advance in the price of the company's product. In no other stocks did the total transactions foot up 10,000 shares, and the noteworthy net fluctua-tions were confined to comparatively inactive stocks, namely, American Tobacco, Manhattan Railway, and United States Rubber. 10 Cin_ ind_ St. L. 4

The announcement that the receivers of the Reading Company had applied to the Court for permission to issue $5,500,000 receivers' cer-tificates was followed by an advance in the stock, caused by extensive purchases to cover short contracts. The indications are that this move on the part of the receivers will be vigorously contested. Still the necessities of the company may compel the Court to grant the petition. According to all accounts Philadel-phia is much exercised over the criticisms of the recent management of the Reading Company, and is inclined to believe that both the property and its President are being persecuted by New York interests that are jealous of Pennsylvania enterprises. Nothing could be further from the truth. The present collanse of the Beading Company is due almost entirely to the mismanagement and poor spect, partly because remittances to the in-terior have practically ceased; but an equally potent reason is found in the very moderate demand for accommodations by brokers. They and their customers have reduced their lines of securities very materially; consequently the amount of money required to carry them is considerably smaller than it was a few weeks ago. This condition of affairs raises the question as to what has become of the stocks that have been sold since the January advance culminated; and the answer seems to be that many of them have passed into the hands of those who are strong enough to hold them without having recourse to the loan market. The closing was tame, and the aver-2 St. F. 1st. C. A M.

There was a moderate inquiry for sterling exchange te-day, and still higher figures were obtained. This condition of the market was due to the selling of securities for London account and the indisposition on the part of bankers to draw, except in a small way, owing to the great scarcity of commercial acceptances. The unexpectedly low quotations for money also had a tendency to stiffen rates. Continental exchange was strong. Posted asking rates for sterling. $4.80\sigma $4.
